

Sinus Tarsi Syndrome

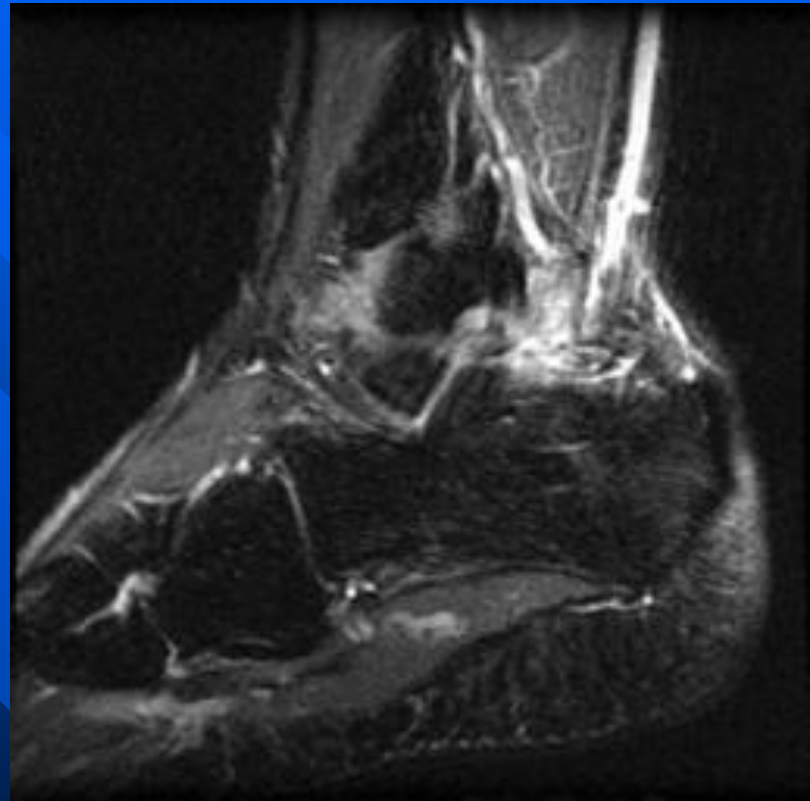

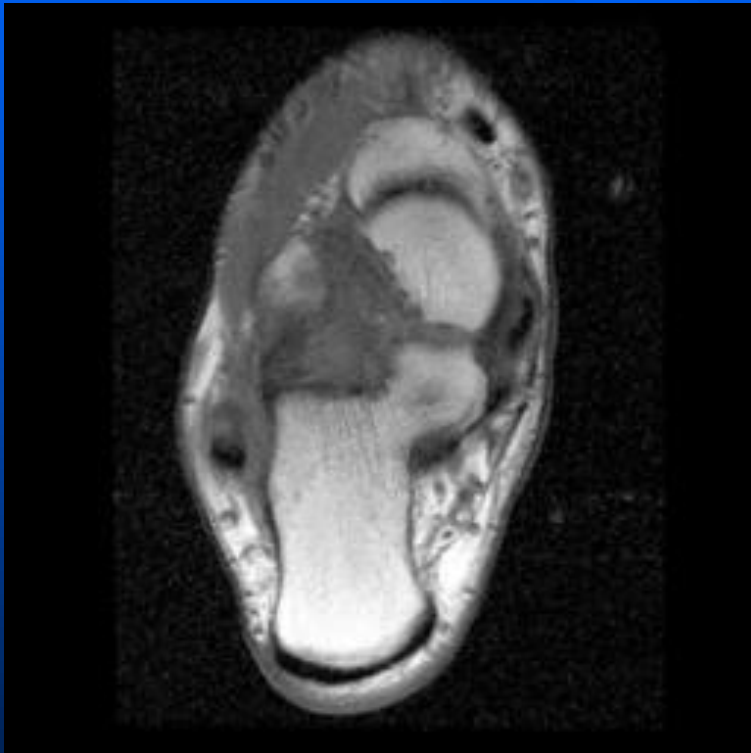

- Cone between talus and calcaneus
- Small end of cone is medially, large end is laterally
- Lateral foot pain
- 70% related to trauma
- Usually tears of the Anterior talofibular ligament and Calcaneofibular ligament.
- Obliteration of Fat, dark on T1 bright or dark on T2
- Diagnosis not made in the setting of acute trauma, may be abnormal due to blood or edema from joint

Sinus Tarsi

Sinus Tarsi and its contents are located between the calcaneus and talus

SINUS TARSI SYNDROME

Ganglion, sinus tarsi

