

Decussation of superior cerebellar peduncles

- Stroke or demylinating disease did not fit clinically.
- Given the added clinically information, it was felt to be a normal finding.

Decussation of superior cerebellar peduncles

- Superior cerebellar peduncle crosses at caudal midbrain (inferior colliculus) levels,
- After which most of the fibers ascend to the red nucleus (rostral midbrain) and dorsal thalamus

