

Acute hemorrhagic leukoencephalitis

- Very rare form of demyelinating diseases. It occurs sporadic and may be considered as the most severe form of ADEM.
- Acute rapidly progressive fulminant inflammation of the white matter.
- Patients can survive with early treatment with combinations of corticosteroids, immunoglobulin, cyclophosphamide, and/or plasma exchange

a b

