

Subdural hemorrhage

- As opposed to epidural hematomas that tend to be capped by fat, subdural hematomas are located within the thecal sac and are separate from the adjacent epidural fat, the vertebral body, and the posterior vertebral elements

Normal Epidural space

